

restoring hope . . . reconciling relationships . . . transforming lives

Welcome to Samaritan Center of Puget Sound

We are pleased that you have chosen Samaritan for assistance at this time in your life. We hope that you will find this to be a positive and useful experience.

About Samaritan Center

Samaritan Center of Puget Sound is accredited by the Samaritan Institute and affiliated with the Presbytery of Seattle. Our therapists come from a variety of Christian faith perspectives and represent a wide range of ages and life experiences. They are interested in and respectful of the spiritual values, beliefs and cultural heritage of all persons.

In providing therapy, we seek to engage in a process that is attentive to the integration of mind, body and spirit. We believe that healing occurs on multiple levels – mind, body, spirit and soul – and are always willing to consider with our clients the physical and spiritual as well as psychological aspects of healing. We are curious about the part that spirituality plays in wrestling with life's dilemmas and transition points, and we bring our own heartfelt responses to the situations in which our clients find themselves. We endeavor to promote growth and well-being in our clients, engaging with them in a collaborative manner to make the changes that they desire in their lives.

Parking at the Ravenna Office:

Off-street parking is available in the lot adjacent to the Church, as well as along Ravenna Blvd.

Young Children:

Please do not leave young children unattended in the waiting room. We cannot be responsible for their safety.

Crisis Calls:

In the event of a personal crisis, clients may call Samaritan's on-call therapist at 206-527-2266. To leave a message for the on-call therapist during office hours (M-F 9am-6:30pm), clients should press 0 during the recorded message, or, if the call is made outside of office hours, press 6. If the call is not returned by the on-call therapist after a half hour, clients should call the Crisis Clinic at 206-461-3222.

Non-Crisis Calls:

To leave a non-crisis message, to cancel or change an appointment with your therapist, call 206-527-2266 and follow the voice prompt.

On the following pages you will find information that will ensure that your needs as an informed client are met. This includes the training, professional background of your therapist, his or her theoretical orientation and approach to therapy, the rights of clients in therapy, and information about confidentiality.

DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

CAREN OSBORN

Training and Professional Background

Caren Osborn is a Marriage and Family Therapist licensed in the State of Washington (No. LF00001860). She received her Masters in Marriage and Family Therapy from Pacific Lutheran University in 1999 and her Bachelors in Psychology from the University of Washington in 1997.

Theoretical Orientation and Approach to Counseling

In Caren's approach to Marriage and Family Therapy, the unit of treatment isn't just the person - even if only a single person is interviewed - it is the set of relationships in which the person is imbedded. Marriage and Family Therapists broaden the traditional emphasis on the individual to attend to the nature and role of individuals in primary relationship networks such as marriage and the family. MFTs take a holistic perspective to health care; they are concerned with the overall, long-term well-being of individuals and their families. Marriage and Family Therapists treat a wide range of serious clinical problems including: depression, marital problems, anxiety, individual psychological problems, and child-parent problems.

A family's patterns of behavior influences the individual and therefore may need to be a part of the treatment plan. Marriage and Family Therapy is: brief, solution-focused, specific, with attainable therapeutic goals, and designed with the "end in mind."

Rights of Clients

It is appropriate for clients to raise questions about the therapist, the therapeutic approach, the progress of therapy, and the cost. As informed consumers, it is the client's responsibility to choose the therapist and therapeutic modality which best suits their needs. Clients have the right to request a change in therapeutic approach, referral to another therapist, or termination at any time. In addition, clients have the right to refuse treatment.

All therapists at Samaritan Center of Puget Sound are bound by the ethical codes of their professional organizations, by the laws of the State of Washington, as well as by agency policy regarding the special nature of the therapist-client relationship. This agency expects all therapists to continually be aware of the influential position they hold in the relationship with clients, using this influence in a constructive way. If a client thinks his/her therapist is not meeting this ethical responsibility, he/she is strongly encouraged to address this with the therapist and/or bring it to the attention of the agency's President/CEO. If you suspect that your therapist's conduct has been unprofessional (as defined by RCW 18.130.180), you may contact the Department of Health by phone at 360-236-4700 or mail : Health Systems Quality Assurance Complaint Intake P.O. Box 47857 Olympia, WA 98504-7857.

We keep a record of the health care services we provide you. You may ask us to see and copy that record. You may also ask us to correct that record. We will not disclose your record to others unless you direct us to do so or unless the law authorizes or compels us to do so. To see your record, or get more information about it, contact your therapist.

Confidentiality

Counseling sessions are held in strict confidence. In general, it is the client or the guardian of a minor child (age 12 and under) guardian, not the therapist, who determines whether protected health information may be released outside Samaritan Center of Puget Sound. However, there are some exceptions to this rule:

1. Washington State Law requires that suspected abuse or neglect of a child (anyone under the age of 18) be reported.

2. Washington State Law requires that suspected abuse, abandonment, neglect, or financial exploitation of vulnerable adults be reported.

3. Washington State Law requires that others be informed if your therapist has reasonable cause to believe that you are gravely disabled or present an imminent likelihood of serious harm to yourself or others. If a threat against others is perceived to be serious, the proper individuals must be contacted; this may include the individual against whom the threat is made.

4. Washington State Law requires that behavior by healthcare professionals which is unprofessional or poses a clear and present danger to patients or clients be reported to the Washington Department of Health.

5. In the event of a medical emergency, emergency personnel may be given necessary information.

6. If you bring a complaint against your therapist with the State of Washington Department of Health, information will be released.

7. In the event of a court order, therapists may be required to disclose information in the presence of a judge.

8. In the event of your death or disability, the information may be released if your personal representative or the beneficiary of an insurance policy on your life signs a release authorizing disclosure.

9. In order to ensure the highest quality of care, your therapist may seek consultation and supervision from other therapists; in these circumstances, identifying information is protected and confidentiality rules bind the consultants.

10. Health information, excluding Psychotherapy Notes, may be disclosed without written authorization from you for the purposes of treatment, payment, and health care operations. Examples of these types of disclosures are listed in Section I of the Notice of Privacy Practices for Samaritan Center of Puget Sound.

11. If you provide written authorization to disclose information to an identified third party for a specified purpose, your therapist will disclose it. You may revoke this authorization in writing at any time. When you revoke an authorization it will only impact shared health information from that point on.
